The Fire Record.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1.—A fire at Middletown, O., last night, burned nearly an entire block, including the Benjamin Smith and Byron Bros. livery stable and three dwellings belonging to John Duey, George Moore and George Rosenberg. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $8,000.

The versatile and volatile French people are fond of lotteries, and laws designed to do away with that sort of gambling are dead letters. A Paris letter to the New York Times refers to schemes now being worked, as follows: "The Loterie Lorraine—for the benefit of victims of hailstorms—with a capital of 6,000,000f; the Loterie Coloniale—for the construction of a harbor at Pointe-a-Pitre—4,000,000f.; the Loterie de Association des Journalistes Republicanes, 6,000,000f.; the Loterie de Tonlouse, 4,000,000f.; the Marseilles Lottery of 4,000,000f., making a total of 30,000,000f., not to speak of a multitude of petty local provincial lotteries and of the proposed 20,000,000f. scheme in aid of the International African Association, instituted to arrange the financial affairs of Congo." It does not seem possible to put a stop to gambling, at least that is the opinion of the French Government, and as lottery gambling is thought to be about the best form of taking chances, the Government permits the people to take the chances. It is a sort of a high-license idea—regulation instead of prohibition.

The funeral of Miss Amelia Beck, daughter of Henry Beck, of 13 West street, will take place Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the family residence and at 2 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church. Friends of the family are invited. 29-2t

Jesse Batchelder, recently the labor candidate for mayor, was arrested today for keeping his Fairfield avenue saloon open to a noisy crowd yesterday. Justice France has the case.

A $60,000 FIRE.

Weil Bros., the Pennington Works and Dr. Barnum Touched up by a Sunday Morning Blaze.

At 3:15 Sunday morning an alarm of fire sounded from box 6-3. The department responded to the scene on Columbia street and had no trouble in locating the fire as a blaze then whirled high into the air from Weil Bros. hide and junk house, a three story building.

The place was formerly occupied by the Jenny electric light company and they utilized an elevator in the rear part. In and about this shaft the fire centered and sent its fiery tongue into the remotest part of the doomed block igniting the rags, tallow and japan and the other inflammable stuff stored on the three floors of the building.

The structure was doomed from the start and the firemen directed their attention to saving the Pennington maceine works on the west and Barnum's livery stable on the east, not neglecting, of course, to flood the burning building.

When the roof fell the bright light revealed the shell like walls and Chief Hilbrecht ordered his men to stand fifty feet from the blazing building. Scarcely had Fred Reineking and Billy Shook emerged from the shadow of the east wall than it toppled over, crushed in Barnum's livery stable and covered a line of hose. This started a fire in the stable, which, however, had already been cleared of everything but the hay, grain and some valueless truck.

This gave the department two fires to manage, but they were equal to the emergency and continued to exert an influence over the elements, although huge blocks of shingles and burning timbers were carried four and five squares distant by the high wind.

The firemen battled bravely on this line and at daylight were masters of the situation, with the assurance that the Pennington works, and all its new and valuable machinery, was saved. The sky-light of this building burned off and let a good deal of water into the shop, but the engine was started, the machinery put in motion and a large force of wipers engaged to save the machinery from the ravages of rust. Some of the patterns were warped and destroyed, but every loss is covered by insurance and can only serve to delay the output of the company.

The tallow and japan varnish in Weil Bros.' place burned like oil and made a frightfully hot fire. The substances ran over the floors and out of the crevices of the building into the street, scorching the firemen to a white heat. They nevertheless marched into it, and but for the menacing walls would have accomplished more good.

The walls of Weil Bros.' place of business were fourteen inches at the first floor, twelve inches at the second and eight inches at the third floor, while Barnum's livery stable had but an eight-inch wall all through. As will be surmised, the walls are wrecked and useless, so that both structures are a total loss.

THE INSURANCE AND LOSSES.

Weil Bros. place their loss at $55,000, having about, they say, $30,000 worth of hides in the cellar. It is not known that the hides are all injured by fire, but some of them certainly are. Water will not injure this class of goods, as it simply necessitates a resalting.

The Messrs. Weil Bros. have $26,000 insurance on their stock. Of this sum $21.000 is placed by the Harding, Schrader, F. P Randall, Swayne and Fisher agencies. Mitchell, Watson & Co., of Chicago, took $5,000 on the stock and all the companies will send on their adjusters.

"We cannot account for the fire" said Ike Weil, "but you can say that we are doing business at No. 78 East Columbia street."

owned the building occupied by Weil Bros., and only had $1,000 insurance, in the Hibernia, of New Orleans. He formerly had an insurance of $4,000 on the block, but the companies cancelled $3,000 as soon as Weil Bros. moved into it. Mr. Randall will lose $3,000 and illy deserves to, as he is always enterprising and pushing things ahead.

DR. G. P. BARNUM

held an insurance of $4,000 on his livery stable building and the amount of insurance on his stock covers every loss. D. C. Fisher holds the policies for Dr. Barnum, who is going to rebuild his stable as soon as the insurance is adjusted. He is doing a saturating business near the old stand.

MR. E. J. PENNINGTON

said their losses would be about $1,500 and the insurance fully covered the amount. He had a big force of men at work to-day joining and supporting the walls of the building, which is owned by Wm. Moellering. Some of the manufactured machinery has been transferred to No. 56 East Columbia street, preparatory to shipment. The works were in operation to-day as usual, but with a reduced force of men, because of the action of Foreman Kiser, who said to his men: "You can work in the shop if you please, but I won't risk my life." Kiser walked out and his men followed him. There was no need of this fright.

WALL CONDEMNED.

The council committee on public grounds and buildings was called together this afternoon and at once proceeded to condemn the north wall of Weil Bros. store. It is dangerous and liable to fall over at any moment.

There is talk also of Dr. Barnum holding Mr. Randall responsible for the destruction of his stable on the ground that it would not have burned if the other wall had not fallen on it.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—Indiana, local rains, nearly stationary temperature.

INDIANA'S LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Colonel Robertson Secures His Per Diem and Mileage Under an Opinion of the Attorney General.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 1.—The controversy regarding the unsettled question of the lieutenant governorship came up once more Saturday afternoon. State's Attorney Carr addressed a letter to Attorney General Michener setting forth that Robert S. Robertson had been elected lieutenant governor; that this election had been legally proclaimed by the speaker of the house; but that he has been prevented from presiding over the senate, although he has frequently made an effort to exercise his rights. He had, in consequence of this election, made a demand upon the auditor for a warrant for the payment of his per diem and mileage, as lieutenant governor and ex-officio-president of the senate, and the attorney general's opinion was asked as to the proper course to pursue. In answer to this Mr. Michener has written a lengthy opinion, covering the same ground he has maintained throughout the controversy, supporting it by numerous authorities, and holding that Robertson was legally elected and entitled to serve. His conclusion was as follows: "He [Robertson] cannot be denied this compensation merely because the senate refused to allow him to preside over it. That denial does not destroy his title, as the title remained in him notwithstanding the action of the senate. It is clear that he is entitled to the incident of the title, which is the compensation. I therefore advise you that you should allow the warran which is claimed, if the mileage and per diem are stated correctly." In accordance with this opinion, the auditor issued his warrant to Colonel Robertson for $505 26, the full amount of his per diem and milage.

The McGarigle Matter.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A telegram from Sarnia, Ont., says: "Instructions have been received from States Attorney Grinnell, of Chicago, and the chief of police to arrest McGarigle on an indictment issued at Montreal. The Sarnia chief of police has not been able to find him and the supposition is that he has left town."

Dr. St. John, who is believed to have personnally assisted McGarigle to escape, was arrested this morning. He furnished bail for $20,000.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—McGarigle, the escaped boodler, was landed at Point Edward, Canada, opposite Port Huron, yesterday, from the schooner Blake. He was taken off the schooner in a small boat, in plain sight of a tug containing officers, who boarded the vessel Marsh, which was in the same tow as the Blake. McGarigle had adopted no disguises, and readily admitted his identity. He proceeded at once to Sarnia, where he lodged with a friend last night. To a reporter he said that he would at once open communication with his friends in Chicago, and that he hoped to arrange matters in the near future so as to admit of his return to Chicago.

MRS. TREXLER

Complains of the Haste in Removing the Goods of Her Late Husband —Her Title Questioned.

Mr. James Wilkinson, the deputy United States marshal, said to THE SENTINEL reporter this morning that Mrs. Trexler, wife of the late Dr. Lesher Trexler, had a statement she desired in the newspapers.

It will be recalled that the doctor died Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Trexler, who is his second wife, says that before his body was cold, Dr. Wortz, his son-in-law, and one of the executors of the estate, had his personal effects, such as clothing, gold watch, the horses and carriages and the iron safety vault, where the doctor kept his papers, removed from her house and premises. She also says she was compelled to listen to the reading of the will at a moment when the grief was too severe to understand it. This was all in the presence of Dr. Wortz and Dr. A. J. Laubach.

Dr. Trexler left his second wife but $9,000, all told, and gave her baby nothing. The rest of his $300,000 estate he divides among his eight children by a former wife. Save Dr. Wortz, none of the children came to see their father.

Mrs. Trexler wanted the doctor buried at Lindenwood, where he has a lot, but Dr. Wortz had the remains sent to Allentown, Berks county, Pa., for burial.

Dr. Wortz questions the the legality of his father's marriage to the woman with whom he has lived as his wife for five years and who has borne him a pretty babe. The lady, whose parents are respectable people in Lake township, denies this assertion and censures the haste of Dr. Wortz and others for their acts and greed.

Dr. Trexler made his fortune out of iron lands and his practice. The case promises to reach the courts.

Was it Murder?

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—This morning the dead body of a pretty white girl about sixteen years of age, was found under the east end of the Eighteenth street viaduct. All the circumstances indicated an atrocious murder.

"THE CONSPIRATORS"

The Federal Jury Disagree as to the Guilt of Sim Coy and His Co-defendants—A Rebuke to Partisan Judge Woods.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 1.—The most intense excitement prevailed in this community all last week in regard to the conclusion expected to be reached by the jury in the election fraud cases. Telegrams have been pouring in from all sections of the state making inquiries as to the verdict of the jury. During the entire Saturday afternoon a crowd of citizens stood around the federal building in the hot, broiling sun awaiting news from the room where the consultation was going on. At 4:30 o'clock Clerk Butler was called for by Judge Woods. After a short consultation with the court in chambers he returned to his office and sent for Judge Claypool, Judge McNutt, Francis Mattler, and others. Coy and Sullivan learned that something was up and quickly appeared. It was learned, as counsel and others came, that the jurors had asked the court to discharge them, as a decision could not be reached. A party of about twenty, headed by Judge Woods, consisting of the clerk, marshal, Coy and Sullivan, Messrs. McNutt, Mattler and Judge Claypool, with several reporters, went to the court room floor. The door was opened after some hesitation by the deputy marshal, and the jurors were seen getting into their coats and adjusting their collars. As the party filed in they took their seats, and the judge put the formal question that he understood they

COULD NOT AGREE.

Mr. Anderson, who acted as foreman, answered, and the question was put to each in succession. The sick juror, Dinsmore, replied very feebly. "Well, then, gentleman," said the judge, "the record will show the fact of your being in consultation with the court and discharge." The proceedings were then at an end. Juror Fullenwider, who acted as a sort of secretary, with the permission of the court gave the result of the vote. On the general proposition of the guilt or innocence of the defendants collectively a vote was taken last evening, the result being seven for acquital and five for conviction. This is supposed to be a strict party vote, although the gentlemen deny that any such consideration had entered into the matter. Below is given as to the defendants separately, and there was no deviation in the several ballots taken during the day:

John H Counselman, one of the election inspectors, a unanimous vote of not guilty.

Simeon Coy, chairman democratic committee, eight for acquittal, four for conviction.

Henry N. Spann, a prominent attorney, eight for acquittal, four for conviction.

C. N. Metcalf, secretary of the state board of health, ten for acquittal, two for conviction.

J. E. Sullivan, county clerk, nine for acquittal, three for conviction.

Albert T. Beck, an attorney and partner of Congressman Bynum, eleven for acquittal one for conviction.

George W. Budd, deputy county clerk, eight for acquittal, four for conviction.

Stephen J. Mattler, inspector, nine for acquittal, three for conviction.

W. F. A. Bernhamer, president of the canvassing board, six for conviction and a like number for acquittal.

John L. Reardon, not guilty.

The vote as to Counselman and Reardon does not stand, and all the defendants will have to be tried again unless the government quashes the indictment as to Reardon and Counselman. A juror said, regarding Counselman and Reardon, that they asked the judge if a verdict of not guilty could be returned in their cases. The judge promised to consult with the attorneys for the defense regarding it, but there was nothing done, and the attorneys say the judge did not bring the matter to their notice. The jurors seemed glad to be released, and began packing up at once. The court room was quickly deserted. Judge Woods repaired to his chambers; and was found pacing the floor. Being asked when the cases would be set for rehearing, he said he did not know. There is much gossip abroad to-night about the matter, and much difference of opinion. The charge of the judge is denounced as extremely partisan by defendants and their friends. Many characterize the trial as a partisan affair, gotten up by republican managers, while republicans generally think that a conspiracy was fully proven and that the defendants are guilty. It seems to be the general opinion that there will be no more trials of the cases against defendants.

The charges against Coy and the other democrats is that of aiding and abetting in the change of the election returns affecting a county judge and coroner at Indianapolis.

Railroad Builder Killed.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 1.—News reaches here that Captain A. G. Wells, builder of the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan railroad, was killed by the explosion of a boiler at San Antonio, Texas.

Death of a Wealthy Toledoan.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Valentine H. Ketcham died this evening, aged seventy-six years. Mr. Ketcham was president of the First National bank, and of many of the leading manufacturing institutions of this city. He was reputed to be the richest man in North-western Ohio his wealth being variously estimated at from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000.

IN THE BUSY WORLD.

Personal Points and Pithy Paragraphs Picked up Around the Shops and Railroads of the City.

Sam Talbot, of the organ factory, has returned from a pleasant trip to Boston.

The Pennington works got a pretty close call by the fire of Sunday morning.

Geo. Carling, a coppersmith in the Pittsburg shops, returned to work this morning, having been sick for a month.

Simon Boerger don't like the hot weather, and he is in favor of everybody taking a vacation during its continuance.

Engineer A. J. You, of the Nickel Plate, with his family, left to-day for Atlanta, Ga., and a trip through the south.

Peter Donner, an employe of the Pittsburg shops, is confined to his house with a severe case of inflammation of the bowels.

Fred Kreispe, of the Peters Box and Lumber Co., has returned from Dayton, Ohio, where he went to act as "best man" at the wedding of a friend.

John Hughes, the wheel inspector at Olds' wheel works, has resigned to accept a position as fireman on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad.

Herman France, of the Electric Light works, left to-day for Maxinkuckee, to attend the chess tournament held there this week. Herman is an expert chess player.

Several of the boys in the machine department of the Bass foundry were at Hartford City yesterday on the excursion and give glowing accounts of the gas well there.

George L. Potter, the assistant master mechanic of the Pittsburg shops, is in charge of affairs during the absence of Master Mechanic Cassanave, who is expected home this evening.

The clerks and foremen of the Bass works are head over heels in work today. They are taking an invoice and our reporter couldn't get within ten yards of them this morning.

It is hinted that Montgomery McMamara, the wheel finisher at Olds' wheel works, is to shortly wed an accomplished Decatur belle. His frequent trips to that city has let the secret out.

There is hot weather consolation in the following remarks from an exchange: "If you can get away for a summer vacation it is best for you to go. If you cannot, you will find great comfort in the reflection that there is no place like home."

July has proved to be a fatal month to the railroad men on the foot-boards. There have been eight engineers and ten firemen killed in accidents and what is more singular, on freight and construction trains the accidents have been the most fatal since the present year came in.

The division of the Yard Master Benefit association, which was organized a week ago among the employes of the shops of the city, started off with a membership of fifteen and is increasing. Its object is to provide for the families of the men in case of death or during sickness.

A magnificent sail boat is being built at the Olds wheel works for the vice-president, Mr. John D. Olds, and is now almost finished. When completed it will be taken to Bay View, Mich., for the use of Mr. Olds' family, who are now rusticating at that delightful summer resort.

There is a great scarcity of refrigerator cars among the railroads, so large are the shipments of provisions, dressed meats and other perishable articles eastward. On Wednesday last the Pennsylvania and the New York Central were 200 cars short of filling their orders for refrigerator cars.

George Crance, the popular wheel finisher at Olds' wheel works, enjoys the reputation among the boys of the shop as being a mighty good fellow. They call him "Bumble Bee Jack." He lives about two and a half miles in the country, where he has forty stands of bees, and "Jack" occasionally brings in a pound of honey to sweeten up the boys, especially his fellow workmen, John Longfield and Mike Berr.

The employes of the Pittsburg shops are making arrangements for an excursion and picnic to be held at Warsaw on the 20th of the month. On Friday evening they held a meeting and appointed the following committee to wait on Master Mechanic Cassanave in order to secure his consent. The committee consisted of the following: J. A. Graham, O. W. Howey, J. J. Rodabaugh, H. H. Kirchifer, Geo. H. Judy, L. Campbell, B. Fitzpatrick, J. H. Sloan, J. T. Leach, F. Dassler, C. J. Sosenkeimer, N. Petgen, F. Butler, O. E. Broadway and W. Knight. The committee will wait on Mr. Cassanave to-day and if they succeed in getting his consent the Pittsburg boys will have a rousing excursion to Warsaw.

POISONED HER CHILD

A Zanesville, Ohio, Mother Accused of Taking Her Child's Life by Giving it Paris Green.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Anna Smoots, the wife of Howard Smoots, of Adamsville, Ohio, was arrested last night, charged with poisoning her child, three years old. The coroner had had an analysis of the child's stomach, showing that it had received more than enough paris green to cause its death. Two other children of this woman have died suddenly within a few years.

JAMES SAUNDERS

Is Cleared of the Charge of Causing His Wife's Death.

Mrs. James Saunders died at the county asylum Saturday evening. This is the woman who was discovered in a dying condition at her home, on Third street, Thursday last, by her neighbors. She had bruises about her head, face and body then and it was supposed that her husband assaulted her. Dr. J. M. Dinnen, the coroner, made a post mortem examination of the remains yesterday and concluded that the woman's death proceeded from natural causes Her lungs were congested, her liver was an unshapely mass and her system was wholly disarranged by alcoholism and neglect. James Saunders, who was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of having been instrumental in the death of his wife, was liberated to day after a forty-hour sojourn in the cooler. The people used to beg about the city. Mrs. Saunders was a very fleshy woman and had traces of better days outlined on her face. Saunders used to wear a shaggy red beard then. Now his face is shaved clean, save his moustache, and his old friends will scarcely recognize him. He is employed by H. C. Paul and stoutly declares he did not strike his wife, attributing her death to "too much beer," as he puts it.

The fire department went to Nebraska this afternoon where a dwelling house was on fire.

Tramps robbed the residence of Ben Stonecifer, on Marion street, of most of the household goods in the absense of the family.

A Cincinnati detective came here this morning and proceeding to the country arrested a man named Steid, wanted at Cincinnati for breaking jail. Steid was living near the paper mill under an assumed name, and the detective caught his man on the plea that he was an express messenger and that a trunk lay in the office to await its owner. Steid responded and is in jail awaiting requisition.

J. Seilberger, of Van Wert, O., came in this afternoon.

S. Chaska commenced work to-day at the Globe Warehouse.

The directors of the Peoples' Natural Gas company held a meeting this afternoon to contract for the sinking of a second well.

Distress After Eating.

This result of indigestion will no longer be experienced if Simmons Liver Regulator is taken after each meal. It is such a good digester, and so mild and pleasant in its effect that it is used by many, after a hearty meal, to insure good digestion. The regulator does not nauseate or irritate the stomach, but corrects acidity, dispels foul gases, allays irritation, and assists the stomach in its digestion.

D. W. Hartnett, the tramp newspaper man who originated the expose of ex-Supt. John Spice, when Mr. S. E. Morss edited THE SENTINEL, is in jail in default of $500 bail. He stole a number of articles from J. M. Robinson, the prosecutor-elect, and a coat from Joe Brimmer, the painter. Hartnett is bright, and before liquor stifled his senses he was a good newspaper man. He is known all over the country and has served on the staff of the leading newspapers of the country. He is now a wreck and a contributor for whisky and a bite to eat. Deputy Sheriff Al. Black made this important arrest.

MONDAY, AUGUST 1, 1887.

FOUR crows alighted in the rigging of the Minnie Eaton, six miles out at sea, and settled themselves to roost. Three were captured, but the other escaped. The captives were placed in a ballast basket in the ship's boat, and duly supplied with food and water. When the ship reached Oxfordness, 150 miles distant from the spot where the birds came aboard, the crow that made its escape made its appearance, coming from the land and alighting in the rigging.

SINCE Queen Victoria was first crowned France has had the reign of Louis Philippe down to Feb. 24, 1848; the republic from Feb. 24 to Dec. 10, 1848; the presidency of Louis Napoleon Bonaparte to Dec. 2, 1851; the empire from November, 1852; then the downfall; next the government of national defense on Sept. 4, 1870; then the presidency of M. Thiers in 1871 until May 24, 1873; next that of MacMahon to the month of January, 1879; and lastly the republic of President Grevy.

SIR JOSEPH JEKYLL, an excellent lawyer, left his fortune to pay the national debt, and the court set it aside on the ground of imbecility. "Sir Joseph," said Lord Mansfield, "might as well have attempted to stop the middle arch of Blackfriars' bridge with his full-bottomed wig." Lord Mansfield's will was written by himself on half a sheet of paper, and not in the usual form; but it proved valid for the disposal of property to the amount of £2,500,000.

THERE are 115 women and girls in the ballet corpse of the Paris Grand Opera House. Ten are stars, ten are first subjects, twenty-two second subjects; there are three divisions of coryphees or leaders, divided into four sections—the "walkers" and the infant class. The pupils receive 40 cents each time they appear, the young ladies of the quadrilles from $30 to $40 a month, the coryphees from $50 to $60, the subjects, or those who dance steps outside the ensemble figures, $60 to $300, and the stars from $5,000 to $9,000 per year.

A MOST remarkable spectacular phenomenon was seen at Sandersville, Ga., one afternoon recently. The sun, setting behind a western bank of cloud, threw a lateral reflection, of perfect symmetry, across the entire heavens, resting upon the eastern horizon, and widening at the zenith. Owing to the irregularity of the cloud's summit, other smaller pathlike illuminations were defined, all seeming to radiate from both horizons and to meet overhead. The sun appeared to have set in the East, also. The curious sight was noted with much wonderment by many citizens, who did not remember ever having seen the heavens similarly spanned before.

A GOOD old friend of ours, says the Buffalo Commercial, says that it is incomprehensible to her how people can eat meat during this "heated term." She claims that the poor animals become overheated, that their flesh is full of impure matter, and that meat ought not to be eaten in warm weather anyway. For herself, she "eschews" meat, and when she wants something "stronger" than vegetables she eats "kidneys, sweetbreads, a little bacon, some liver now and then, and occasionally some tripe." She regards this diet as much more healthy than the "flesh" of overheated animals. She says, however, that as a rule during the summer she is "strictly vegetarian," and "lives almost entirely on milk and eggs."

THE Oil City Derrick gives an exhibit of the oil and natural-gas business in Pennsylvania by saying that "statistics show that 53,000 wells have been drilled in Pennsylvania and New York, since the discovery of petroleum, at a cost of $200,000,000. These wells have produced 310,000,000 barrels of oil, which were sold at the wells for $500,000,000. This represented a profit to the producer of $300,000,000. The amount of oil exported is placed at 6,231,102,923 gallons. In the pool in Washington County alone $3,200,000 has been expended in machinery and drilling. This does not include the many millions that are represented there in the natural-gas industry. Independent of the oil business there is about $50,000,000 invested in natural-gas plants in Pennsylvania. These are majestic figures and serve to show the magnitude of the oil and gas business." Indiana has a natural-gas area of about 3,000 square miles. To drill 12,000 wells at a cost say of $2,000 each would represent an investment of $24,000,000. If these wells should flow an average of 3,000,000 cubic feet a day, the annual product would be 13,140,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas. If this could be sold at 10 cents per 1,000 cubit feet it would net receipts amounting to $1,314,000,000 annually. It is not required to be in a hurry. Gas is cheap fuel. Cheap fuel is a desideratum in manufacturing. Manufacturing enterprises are sure to come where there is cheap fuel, and Indiana in the not distant future will be the great manufacturing center of the country and of the continent.

FINDING MURRELL'S CAVE.

Ghastly Sights in the Long-Forgotten Hiding-Place of a Tennessee Bandit.

We left Huntington, Tenn., for the southwestern portion of this county for a few days' bird and squirrel hunt, says a writer in the Nashville World. While following a rocky branch known as the Gin branch we came to where it skirted the margin of a high hill. Our setter Charley made a dash at a rabbit, and both rabbit and Charley disappeared in the hill. The entrance what we supposed to be a crevice in the rocks; in a moment the bats came pouring out by the hundreds. The weather being chilly they fell to the ground in a stuper as soon as the air struck them. Their slumbers had been disturbed by the dog.

We were enjoying the fun when, to our astonishment, several large horn owls came flopping out—one gave a dismal hoot, as though he had not seen daylight in years, or wished to frighten us away. Becoming uneasy for fear our dog could not retreat, Mr. Lee went to the entrance of the cave. Taking a pole and probing some six feet, he found it made an abrupt angle to the right; the opening was barely sufficient for a common-sized man to enter; he grouped his way until it became so dark that he returned and said that it opened out into what he believed to be a large hall, and that he could near Charley running around and whining, as though he was lost and could not find his way out. We sent to a neighboring house and procured a lantern, determined to rescue Charley at all hazards. With lantern in hand we both entered, compelled to crawl on hands and knees for some distance before we could walk erect; the entrance turned first to the right, then to the left, in a zigzag form. Finally we met Charley, and his bark as it echoed and re-echoed, astonished us to such an extent that we raised our lantern over our heads, which threw a bright light around.

We were in a large room, ceilled on all sides and overhead with rude clapboards. Before us sat a large table with a mutilated pack of cards in the center; heavy wooden chairs around the table; a couple of large and rough shop-made knives on one corner. As soon as we could collect our senses and calm our staggered brain we found we were in a secret cave that had once been occupied by a band of outlaws, but who or when was the question. In surveying the room, which was 18 by 18, we found in one corner a black something. Holding the light close our blood was chilled. It was a large black man, his skin and flesh as dry as those who in ancient days were given passage over Styx. A large and rough-made chain was locked around his ankle and fastened to a staple in the floor In the opposite corner lay the dried frames of two huge bloodhounds; in an old heavy wooden box was found two old-fashioned horse pistols with flint locks; they had undoubtedly done service in the revolution; there were also several pairs of handcuffs. We began to think that we were in the region of the damned. When looking on the rough wall there we saw "the handwriting." It was "John A. Murrell, 1828." We were in the great outlaw's den; we could then see that the man chained had been stolen by the old bandit—brought there and chained until they could run him south and sell him. The presumption is that when the cave was deserted he was alive; the doom was sure, but what agony he underwent—chained and alone—his face, like Milton's devil, "grinned horribly a ghastly smile." The bloodhounds had been kept for the purpose of recapturing any slave that might escape.

John A. Murrell was born in Morgan County, Tennessee. When a boy he was considered a spry and promising lad. After a few love scrapes he became reckless and wandered out into the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee—preaching, horse-stealing, bagging negroes, throat-cutting, and blacksmithing. He served a long time in the penitentiary and preached to the convicts. John's voice could always be heard in prayer at a big camp-meeting, and the deacons and elders often had to walk home. The little house in which he died is still standing in Pikeville, Bledsoe County, Tenn. On his death-bed he wanted to make a dead-out confession, but was gagged and comforted by friends, who exclaimed: "Great God, John, don't give us all away." John's bones now rest at Smyrna.

Rotten Row.

Hyde Park, with the adjoining Kensington Gardens, is a very large enclosure with drives, grassy lawns, and fine trees, and with a pretty river running through it. Near Hyde Park Corner, where we enter, are some magnificent residences, among which is Apsley House, belonging to the Duke of Wellington. One of the roads in Hyde Park is called Rotten Row, and is devoted entirely to horseback riding. There is nothing decayed about this Row, and it is said that the place used to be called Route du Roi, the Road of the King, and it has gradually been corrupted into Rotten Row.

There are many proper names which the English people pronounce very differently from the way in which they are spelled; St. John, for instance, is pronounced Singe-on, Beauchamp is Beecham; and when they wish to mention the name Cholmondeley, they say Chumley, while Sevenoaks has become Snooks.

From twelve to two o'clock we may see Rotten Row filled with lady and gentlemen riders, trotting or galloping up and down. But the finest sight of Hyde Park begins about five o'clock in the afternoon, when the carriages of the nobility and gentry fill the long drive on the south side of the Park. There is no place in the world where we can see so many fine horses and carriages, so much fashion, so much wealth, and so much aristocracy, in a comparatively small space, as in Hyde Park, between five and seven o'clock in the afternoon, during what is called the "London season."—Frank R. Stockton, in St. Nicholas.

GREEDY TURKISH FIREMEN.

They Only Go to a Burning Building to Make Money Out of It.

Not infrequently we are startled by the report from a cannon, for this is the method of spreading the news of a fire, says a correspondent who writes from Constantinople to the San Francisco Chronicle. It is sounded several times from across the water, the lookout giving the signal from the height of Galata tower, so it is heard all up and down the Bosporus. The location of the fire is then telegraphed to each village. It is not long before we hear, far in the distance, a prolonged dismal call, and we then know that the watchman is coming to tell all along his way the place of conflagration. This can do no good except to satisfy the curiosity, for were the owner of the burning building here and the fire in Pera he could not get to it till daylight, and all night his thoughts would be on the probable damage done. That, too, is likely to be great on account of the character of the firemen. There are attempts at organized companies, but all consist of the water-carriers, not such as carry the cool, sweet water for passengers, but those using leather bags or bottles to supply houses. When an alarm is given these all run with their sacks, or wait to fill them at the fountain first, and then sit down and bargain with the owners, and will not put a drop of water on the flames until they have him agree to the price they wish for their services. They can do little good, however, for they use only a hand-pump that, of course, cannot throw the stream very far nor with much force. The building is almost sure to burn to the ground, and were it not for the frequent stone and brick walls much damage would be done. The firemen, as well as many others, intend to make as much as possible at this time, and, on the pretence of saving furniture and other articles, they enter the house and carry off all they can, feeling that it belongs to them, as they have taken it from a burning building. All houses in danger of catching are thus entered also, and it takes the most vigilant of watching to prevent the loss of everything. This causes much more annoyance than the fire, for while the latter can be put out the former are demonstrative.

The watchman who tells us of the fire is called the beckgee. His "Yon gon var!" (there is a conflagration) we have learned to understand, but all the remainder of his speech is a rapid running together of words that none but practiced ears can interpret. His other duty is to pass through the village several times every night and on his way pound the stones with his iron-ferruled stick. This tells the people that he is on watch while they sleep, but it also tells the knave to hide himself or delay his mischief until the watchman shall have passed. His signal surely bodes more of evil than of good, and were he to meet some night wanderer I fear he would be the first to flee. For one evening, curious to see him and his pounding instrument, three of us went out to meet him. When he saw us he stood still, as if greatly frightened, and when we called him it was some little time before he ventured to draw near.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organ, removes the faint feeling creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

How Gloves Are Made.

Nobody, so far as we know, has ever disputed the proposition that one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives; and we have little fear of contradiction when we make bold to declare that probably one-half of the people of the United States do not know where their gloves come from. Of course it is generally known that gloves of fine kid, such as ladies wear, and gloves of a certain form which fashion prescribes for men, are brought from abroad, but whence comes the great supply of all the other gloves? The answer would not be far wrong if one were to say from Fulton County, New York. Four-fifths of the gloves made in America, it is estimated, are manufactured in the county named, and the manufactories which make gloves elsewhere are in great part the children of Fulton County, indebted to her for their nurture and their establishment in life.

The headquarters of the glove-making industry in Fulton County are forty-five miles northwest of Albany, in Johnstown Township. The villages of Gloversville and Johnstown in that township contain a population of about 20,000, seven-eighths of whom are glovemakers. There are upward of 150 glove manufactories in the section. Glove-making in what is now Fulton County was begun early in the present century. Upon the passing away of Sir William Johnson, the famous Indian agent of colonial times, and of his son Sir John, a zealous Tory who fought fiercely for King George, the Dutch farmers of the neighborhood looked about for some better means of support than were offered to them by the soil, which was not fitted for husbandry, although there was good grazing land upon the stony hillsides. A shrewd family from Connecticut are popularly credited with introducing into the neighborhood the manufacture of buckskin gloves. There was in the convenient North Woods in those days a supply of material for this manufacture so great that nobody would have thought it could ever be exhausted, but the demand of the American people for gloves proved to be still greater, and the North Woods deer ceased to be depended upon by the Fulton County glove-makers years ago. To-day the gloves manufactured in Gloversville and Johnstown are made of skins brought from the most distant parts of the globe. The great bulk are buck-skins and sheep-skins, but there are many others which the glovemakers use—among them seal-skin, dog-skin, East India cowhide, and the skin of the South American water-hog. The bulk of the buckskin comes from Mexico and Central and South America. The deer of the tropics is covered with a heavier skin than covers the deer of these latitudes, and the finest sheep-skin comes from South Africa, and is that of the Cape hair-sheep. "The coarser the wool, the finer the skin," is a glovemaker's saying. All manner of furs, too, go to Fulton County, to be used in finishing the gloves.

The business of glove-making in Fulton County amounts to about $8,000,000 yearly. The wages of the most skillful workers—the table cutters, as they are called—run from $60 to $80 a month; block cutters get from $55 to $65 monthly, and machine girls earn, according to their skill, from $6 to $12 and even $14 a week.—Harper's Bazar

Where Great Men are Born.

It is a curious fact, as noted by the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, that the great majority of the prominent men are from the smaller citites and towns, while on the other hand, the number of those born in the larger cities of the North and West who have written their names high on the roll of political and military fame will scarcely reach a round dozen.

Charles Sumner was a resident of Boston, but his great colleague in the Senate, Henry Wilson, came from the insignificant village of Natick, while Gens. Butler and Banks and Sens. Dawes and Hoar are natives of places but little more important in point of population. Tilden and Arthur were New York City men, but nearly every other New Yorker of prominence—like Pres. Cleveland, Daniel Manning, Horatio Seymour, Conkling, Seward, Greely and Kernan—had their birth and training in the interior citizes. "Sunset" Cox claims New York City as his home, but he made his reputation as a reconteur and wit before he removed to the metropolis and while a resident of the sleepy old town of Zanesville, O.

Sam Randall is the only Congressman from Philadelphia in 20 years who is known outside of his state. The other famous Pennsylvanians—Buchanan, Stevens, Cameron, Curtin, Meade, and Hancock—all hailed from the provinces.

In Ohio the contrast is still more sharply defined. Ben. Wade, Chase, Stanton, Garfield, Hayes, Gen. and Senator Sherman, Giddings, Thurman, Sheridan, and William Allen were in every instance citizens of obscure little towns that are known only to the world as the homes of these great men. Cincinnati, as an offset to this, has furnished to the country but two men of national prominence since the war—ex-Attorney Gen. Taft and George H. Pendleton.

Chicago has done even less for herself, inasmuch as she has sent but one may, Lyman Trumbull, of first-class ability, to either branch of Congress. Grant, Lincoln, Logan, and Yates, the best-known names in Illinois politics, laid the foundation of their greatness in the smallest cities and towns of the state. What is true of the statesmen of the past is equally true of those of to-day. The Morrisons, Springers, Blounts, Hammonds, Butterworths, McKinleys, Reeds, Mills, Holmans, Paysons, Weavers, Reagens, and Hendersons, who control the action of the lower house, have their homes in the Waterloos, Macons, Cantons, Auroras, Corsicans, Palestines and other unimportant towns in their respective states.

THE MOON AND THE WEATHER.

Some Scientific Facts Regarding an Old Superstition.

Of all surviving pseudo-superstitions that of the influence of the moon on the weather dies the hardest; and the belief that the (so-called) "changes" of the moon are accompanied or followed by changes in the condition of the terrestrial atmosphere is still to be found among a very large number indeed of otherwise educated and enlightened people. A recent writer in the English Mechanic has examined the grounds of this belief and attributes it to the weather predictions in the almanacs of the early part of the century.

As to the moon "changing," one would imagine to hear the majority of people talk, that a "change" of the moon is in some sense cognate with a conjuring trick, in which the performer, after showing that he has nothing in his hand, instantaneously produces an egg, an orange, or a ball from it. Now nothing could well be further from the truth than this, the fact being that the moon is always changing—.01 second before conjunction she is waning, .01 second after it she is waxing, and so throughout her monthly path. When her (celestial) longitude is identical with that of the sun she is said in the almanacs to be "new;" when such longitude differs 90 degrees from the sun's toward the east she is in her "first quarter;" when they are separated by 180 degrees the moon is "full," and when she has traveled to that point in her orbit in which she is 90 degrees to the west of the sun she is said to be in her "last quarter;" in each case it being assumed that she is viewed from the earth's center. The use of the word "change," then, in connection with her position in these four points of her orbit is a solecism, pure and simple.

"But," people are heard to say, "as the moon influences the tides, why should it not affect the atmosphere too?" To which the immediately obvious reply is that the tides are a semi-diurnal phenomeon, so that, on this principle, the weather ought to change twice a day also—a conclusion too absurb to be entertained. Nevertheless the moon does influence the atmosphere by causing the production in it of tides so minute as, under ordinary circumstances to be masked by other fluctuations. The existence of these atmospheric tides was first definitely established by the observations of the late Prof. Daniell, but if these minute tides influenced the weather in the slightest degree it must change twice a day—a supposition too ridiculous to merit notice.

The "moon on her back" as a weather sign would appear to be a good deal like the old woman's indigo test—if the dye was pure "'twould either sink or swim, she disremembered which." In many parts of the country, and uniformly in England, the belief prevails that when the young moon is "lying on her back"—in other words, when the line joining her cusps is nearly or quite parallel to the horizon, she is "holding water," and that rain will certainly follow. How either belief arose it would be idle to speculate, but the explanation of the phenomenon itself is sufficiently simple. In the outset the moon is never much more than 5 degrees either to the north or south of the ecliptic, or apparent annual path of the sun through the Heavens. Now the line adjoining her cusps (the sharp points of her crescent) is always square to a great circle passing the sun and moon. Two minutes' study of a celestial globe will show how variable is the inclination of the ecliptic to the horizon, and consequently that of the line joining the cusps of the moon also.

Finally, the most elaborate comparisons of meteorogical records made in France and in England (where the Greenwich observatory for forty years were carefully collated with the moon's phases during that period) have sufficed to show that no connection whatever exists between them. The solitary observable effect of the moon upon our atmosphere was believed by Sir John Herschel to be exhibited in the tendency to disappearance or cloud under the full moon, and this he attributes to the heat radiated from her surface.

Stories of Birds.

While Louis Gott was hunting near Palmyra, Mo., he received a violent blow on the side of the head, which made him dizzy for a few moments. When he recovered he saw a prairie chicken limping away, and he thinks it was the chicken that struck him.

Joseph O'Brien, of Cleveland, says that he once examined a swallow's nest in which were two young birds. Around the leg of one of them horse-hair had been closely wound. Mr. O'Brien removed the hair and found that the leg had been broken. He thinks that this was a genuine case of bird surgery.

A Valdosta, Ga., man driving along the road near his home, saw a large bald eagle devouring a goose by the roadside. He alighted, gathered a light-wood knot, and advanced upon it, but the eagle, so far from fleeing away at his approach, stood by its game and showed fight. The man walked to within a few feet of it and, with a well-directed blow with the lightwood knot, knocked it over.

The Beer of the Bible.

In a book entitled "The Beer of the Bible," the author undertakes to prove that the leaven which the Israelites carried out of Egypt with them was an Egyptian beer called "booza." This discovery is more important than at first thought it appears to be, for now it is easily understood why the Egyptian hosts took to water. The Israelites had run off with all the beer.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." MRS. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and disarrangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Fatorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

Self-Preservation is the First Law

Of nature was thoroughly demonstrated by the people who rush into our store for relief and comfort. Pongees, Mohairs, Drap d'etes and Seersucker coats and vests fell before the throng of purchasers, who were determined to meet Old Sol advancing at the uncomfortable pressure of 98 degrees in the shade. The conflict raged long through every department, and as we gather up the scattered garments and arranged the broken lines of sizes, we felt sure that the people had won a handsome victory. You are earnestly invited to renew the attack, when a pleasant reception awaits you. Our great stock is complete in every department.

MONDAY, AUGUST 1, 1887.

THE CITY NEWS.

Dink Trentman is at home from quite a stay at Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Ward left this morning for a summer recreation at Catskill, N. Y.

W. A. Diffendorfer, the genial bookkeeper for Coombs & Co., is kept at his home of DeWald street by sickness.

A lively fight occurred on Saturday afternoon near the Murray works between Dick Sloan and Lewis Grippen, in which the latter was bitten severely in the finger by the former.

The Logansport Journal says: "R. W. T. DeWald and sister Carrie, of Fort Wayne, stopped in the city yesterday, on their way to Peoria, to pay a short visit to John DeWenter."

It only takes about twelve days to put a well down to Trenton rock anywhere in central Indiana, but it seems to take more than twelve weeks to put one down anywhere in northern Indiana.

J. B. Barnes, superintendent of motive power and machinery of the Wabash, and Mrs. Barnes, Dr. and Mrs. Shryock and Dr. S. B. Brown left this morning for Niagara Falls and a trip through the east.

Oliver Barrett, whose home is on Murray street, climbed on a Pittsburg train Saturday night to ride to the St. Mary's river. He fell under the wheels of the train in some way and had one of his hands mangled so badly that Dr. Dinnen amputated a finger for him.

Col. D. N. Foster, who has just returned from an extensive trip through the east, in reply to a question as to the political feeling in the east, said: "Oh, everybody out there is for Blaine's renomination, and he will be the next republican candidate for president."

Friday night a long wooden culvert across a stream east of Lima, on the line of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad, was set on fire by passing locomotive and damaged to a great extent, making it dangerous for trains to pass over. The wrecking crew was sent from Lima to repair the damage.

The West Main street bridge is permitted to go to ruin. The water works pipes lay on it and are racking it pieces. The floor of the structure is unsafe and Saturday a hack horse nearly broke one of his feet in the crevices. The county commissioners ought to dump the water pipes into the river if they are not immediately removed.

The bright particular star that can be seen now every evening in the western sky is the planet Venus. It will become brighter and brighter until the 15th of August, when it will obtain its greatest brilliancy. On the 21st of September it will be in inferior conjunction with the sun, when it will change to a morning star and take its place in the eastern sky in all its glory to charm the early risers with its transcendant beauty.

Mayor Muhler and Captain A. H. Dougal came home from Ft. Meigs Saturday night. Ex-President Hayes presided over the meeting of the Maumee Valley Historical association and there was a great number of prominent people in attendance. The object of the society is to see that congress properly marks the scenes of Indian wars and pioneer struggles. Mayor Muhler secured the acceptance of an invitation to hold the next meeting in Fort Wayne, the scene of the most notable events it is proposed to perpetuate in marble.

The Michigan City Dispatch is making a plea for the pardon of Buel C. Webster, who has served twenty years of a life sentence for a double murder committed in this county. This continual slobbering over murderers and criminals whose victims lie in untimely graves is too sickening to tolerate. Time cannot attone for Buel Webster's crime and so henious was the double killing that Hon. A. P. Edgerton addresses every governor of Indiana, explaining the bloody deed and protesting against any executive clemency for the perpetrator.

Albert Foster, who went east several weeks ago, with his parents, Col. and Mrs. D. N. Foster, to take an ocean voyage for the benefit of his health, is now in New Jersey passing the summer months with relatives. He spent three weeks at the sea shore, but, upon the advice of his physician, gave up his sea voyage and went into the interior of New Jersey. While he is improved in some respects, Colonel Foster, who has returned home, does not speak encouragingly of his son's recovery, and says that Albert will remain where he is, with Mrs. Foster, until his physician advises a change of location.

Save your tickets! All three of the grand capital prizes will be drawn September 1, in case numbers 1,104, 1,930 and 907 are not presented before that time. Messrs. Sam, Pete & Max are determined that somebody shall secure these grand presents. The daily presentation of valuable gifts, the popular scheme of the day, and going the year round. No dull times at the Star, business booming, stock immense, prices way down. 30d&w-tf.

The Business Men's exchange meets to-night.

Amiel Such and Anna Bartels have been licensed to wed.

The city council will meet in special session to-morrow night.

Mrs. J. D. Olds is at Bay View, Michican, spending the summer.

Mrs. J. F. Beegan and son have returned from a pleasant visit at Wabash.

Councilman Williams was experimenting with a gasoline stove Saturday night and burned his hands slightly.

Charles E. Droeger, formerly of this city but now of Cincinnati, is the guest of his parents, on Third street.

The school entertainment which was to be given next Saturday evening in Madison township is postponed.

Miss Aggie Phillips, a very handsome and charming young lady, has returned to the city from Findlay, O., where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Ida Geoglein, daughter of Henry Geoglein and grand-daughter of ex-County Commissioner Geoglein, died yesterday of cramps. Funeral to-morrow afternoon.

The city needs a building inspector and the enforcement of the ordinance requiring fire walls between buildings as well as walls of a substantial character in all buildings.

The regular cottage meeting of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Biddell, No. 150 Ewing street, Tuesday evening, the 2d inst. All are welcome."

Geo. J. Alter has been appointed superintendent of the mail carriers, vice Frank Mensch, who resigned to take the Frenchtown route. Will C. Baade has finished his fifteen days' vacation and Mail Carrier Will Clear is next on the program for a summer jaunt.

The International Typographical Union has sustained the striking Gazette printers and will assist them out of the strike fund. Mr. Boyer, chief organizer of the International Union, is expected here to-day to instruct the local union as to what course to pursue in the impending strike.

Mr. George W. Seavy Saturday purchased from Mr. Pat H. Kane, one of his rooms in the Kane block, on West Main street, for $7,000. Mr. Seavy will remove his hardware store to that room and will possibly rent the adjoining store room when Geo. E. Bursley vacates it.

Mr. Tom Wilkinson, a brother of Deputy United States Marshal James Wilkinson, was sworn in as deputy sheriff to-day. It is said that Mr. Viberg is going to dismiss Deputy Sheriff Albert Black. The young gentleman came in from the country and has earned for himself a host of friends as well as an enviable official record.

It was most fortunate for the city that an arrangement was made with Mr. Bass for a supply of water. If this had not been done there can be no doubt but that the fire on Saturday night would have destroyed the Randall building, Barnum's stable, the Pennington works, the woolen factory and perhaps other property, for all of which the city would have been liable. Her liability could not have been less than $150,000.

Michael Harrigan, Wm. Nix, Wm. Lepker, James Saunders, Ben Skuley, Geo. Hartman, Orville Hadly, Henry Woodward, James Nolan, Christ McLaughlan and John Crotty were arraigned before his honor for drunkenness. The fines ranged from $11.50 to $13.00, according to the tapering of the drunk. Crotty is the fellow who rescued young Ferguson from drowning in the St. Mary's river and may get out of jail on the strength that he is a local hero.

A member of THE SENTINEL staff received to-day a letter from City Clerk Rockhill, dated Carlsbad, July 12. He does not note much improvement in his condition, but says that is always the case the first week at the springs. He was to remain there three weeks longer, and said that Messrs Stevens and Oppenheim are to join him at Carlsbad this week. The party seems to have had a pleasant journey, and Wright tells of meeting Hon. James G. Blaine and Buffalo Bill at London.

Alfred M. Preston, editor of the Pythian Journal, and a very clever gentleman, comfortably and pleasantly fixed, while talking with his wife, telling her that he must go to the depot to meet a friend, suddenly drew a revolver and began shooting at her, and when his brother and mother appeared on the scene he shot at them, but fortunately injured no one. This morning all the family agreed that his act was due to temporary mental disorder, and the prosecution was dismissed, he being consigned to care of his people.

The Warsaw Times has this personal gossip: "Mrs. J. D. Overhalt and Miss Mary Gills, of Goshen, and Miss Josie Nereiter, of Fort Wayne, have been in the city for the past few days visiting Miss Laura Bartol and other friends.—Rev. A. T. Briggs, of Fort Wayne, will fill the pulpit at the M. E. church tomorrow (Sunday) morning and evening.—Cy Lose, of the Journal, and David Eckert, the manufacturer of the celebrated "39" cigars, both of Fort Wayne, were in the city yesterday and gave us a call. Dave takes somewhat after his father in avoirdupois."

An exchange very truthfully says: "Whenever a man is sucessful—it matters not in what—he will be hated. If his success is in a wrong direction, he will be hated by the better class of the community, and he should have it. If he succeeds in good works he will be hated by the bad men and envied by the conservative. When you are assailed for good works, stand by your guns. Woe unto you when all men speak well. The aggressive man is worth a thousand 'don't care' fellows, and ten thousand of those who will sacrifice principle, and let a needed work go undone for fear of enmity. Such men are cowards and stumbling blocks. They deserve to be left in the race of life. Their stock in trade is talk and egotism. Drive on."

A JEWELER WRITES:

MESSRS. PROCTER & GAMBLE, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—I think your "Ivory Soap" is about as nice and convenient a thing as I have ever tried to clean jewelry. I have frequently cleaned up soiled necklaces, watch-guards and other similar articles by making a stiff lather in my hands, then thoroughly saturate the article I want cleaned, rubbing it gently in the palms of my hands, rinsing in cold, soft water, and drying in dry sawdust. For a convenient and effective article for household use I don't think it can be beat. I don't think it would have any injurious effects on any thing except, perhaps, pearls or foil-back goods. If carefully handled, the goods come out looking nearly as bright as when cleaned by the best preparations known to the trade, and it is something perfectly safe in the hands of inexperienced persons, and convenient to have about. I find it so good I think it deserves mention, hence this letter.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A Card from D. Nestel.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

According to a notice in your paper of Friday last some one demands a new sidewalk on the west side of Broadway, from Jefferson street to the railroad. Would it not be in better taste for the person to give his or her name? There is no better sidewalk in the city than the walk spoken of, that of Nestel's square south of Jefferson and west of Broadway; also, the next south of the alley, Mr. Langohr's property. They should be taken as samples of cleanliness and are kept according to the city ordinances. Farther south, property holders let their sidewalks go down and occupy one-half of them with chicken coops, lager beer kegs and other obstructions. Those who comply with the ordinances, sharpers and their friends should not interfere with. They only expose to the public their own roperty. It is about time tax payers get rid of such mouthers. D. HARRY GRIFFITH,

A Stone Mason, Dies Suddenly at Peter Koehlinger's Hostelry.

Harry Griffith came here from Chicago June 1, and engaged lodging at Peter Koehlinger's hostelry, on Clinton street. The place was formerly occupied by Frank Fitzgerald, and has not improved with age.

At this joint Harry Griffith met his death last night. He was found at the bottom of a stairway leading to Clinton street, and died quickly. He had been ailing some days and the county physician gave him some medicine. He drank too much liquor and a domestic at the house said he talked silly yesterday. They say he did not fall down the stairway, and attribute his death to natural causes.

Griffith was a stone mason employed on the Berghoff brewery. He was possibly thirty-five years of age, and once told Mrs. Koehlinger he had a wife and five children at Chicago.

Cheapness of Clocks.

Clocks are not only useful but very ornamental, and so very cheap, too. A very pretty antique pressed brass mantel clock (American make), with a deep-toned cathedral gong of a far-away sound, can be had for $10. A good time-keeper, nickel-plated, costs but 90 cents. The prices have this wide range, and selections can be made from untold thousands of office clocks, alarms, cuckoos, halls, and striking or silent recorders of the flight of precious hours. Clocks that tell the state of the weather, and are also calendars; clocks that tinkle the half hours and chime the full; clocks that work like watches or swing the faithful pendulum, and, in fact, clocks of all kinds, matching all dispositions, are abundant and cheap, and there seems to be no excuse for even the occupant of an east-side flat for not having one. These Yankee clocks are appreciated abroad and below, for the exportations to Europe, Mexico, and South America number a 1,000 a day.—New York Times.

The versatile and volatile French people are fond of lotteries, and laws designed to do away with that sort of gambling are dead letters. A Paris letter to the New York Times refers to schemes now being worked, as follows: "The Lotterie Lorraine—for the benefit of victims of hail-storms—with a capital of 6,000,000f; the Lotterie Coloniale —for the construction of a harbor at Pointe-a-Pitre—4,000,000f.; the Lotterie de Association des Journalistes Republicanes, 6,000,000f.; the Lotterie de Toulouse, 4,000,000f.; the Marseilles Lottery of 4,000,000f., making a total of 30,000,000f., not to speak of a multitude of petty local provincial lotteries and of the proposed 20,000,000f. scheme in aid of the International African Association, instituted to arrange the financial affairs of Congo." It does not seem possible to put a stop to gambling, at least that is the opinion of the French Government, and as lottery gambling is thought to be about the best form of taking chances, the Government permits the people to take the chances. It is a sort of a high-license idea—regulation instead of prohibition.

A $60,000 FIRE.

Well Bros., the Pennington Works and Dr. Barnum Touched up by a Sunday Morning Blaze.

At 3:15 Sunday morning an alarm of fire sounded from box 6-3. The department responded to the scene on Columbia street and had no trouble in locating the fire as a blaze then whirled high into the air from Well Bros. hide and junk house, a three story building.

The place was formerly occupied by the Jenny electric light company and they utilized an elevator in the rear part. In and about this shaft the fire centered and sent its fiery tongue into the remotest part of the doomed block igniting the rags, tallow and japan and the other inflammable stuff stored on the three floors of the building.

The structure was doomed from the start and the firemen directed their attention to saving the Pennington machine works on the west and Barnum's livery stable on the east, not neglecting, of course, to flood the burning building.

When the roof fell the bright light revealed the shell like walls and Chief Hilbrecht ordered his men to stand fifty feet from the blazing building. Scarcely had Fred Reineking and Billy Shiek emerged from the shadow of the east wall than it toppled over, crushed in Barnum's livery stable and covered a line of hose. This started a fire in the stable, which, however, had already been cleared of everything but the hay, grain and some valuable truck.

This gave the department three fires to manage, but they were equal to the emergency and continued to exert an influence over the elements, although huge blocks of shingles and burning timbers were carried four and five squares distant by the high wind.

The firemen battled bravely on this line and at dayb.k were masters of the situation, with the assurance that the Pennington works, and all its new and valuable machinery, was saved. The sky-light of this building burned off and let a good deal of water into the shop, but the engine was started, the machinery put in motion and a large force of wipers engaged to save the machinery from the ravages of rust. Some of the patterns were warped and destroyed, but every loss is covered by insurance and can only serve to delay the output of the company.

The tallow and japan varnish in Well Bros.' place burned like oil and made a frightfully hot fire. The substances ran over the floors and out of the crevices of the building into the street, scorching the firemen to a white heat. They nevertheless marched into it, and but for the menacing walls would have accomplished more feat.

The walls of Well Bros.' place of business were fourteen inches at the first floor, twelve inches at the second and eight inches at the third floor, while Barnum's livery stable had but an eight-inch wall all through. As will be surmised, the walls are wrecked and useless, so that both structures are a total loss.

THE INSURANCE AND LOSSES.

Well Bros. place their loss at $35,000, having about, they say, $30,000 worth of hides in the cellar. It is not known that the hides are all injured by fire, but some of them certainly are. Water will not injure this class of goods, as it simply necessitates a resalting.

The Messrs. Well Bros. have $26,000 insurance on their stock. Of this sum $21,000 is placed by the Harding, Schrader, F. P. Randall, Swayne and Fisher agencies. Mitchell, Watson & Co., of Chicago, took $5,000 on the stock and all the companies will send on their adjusters.

"We cannot account for the fire" said Ike Well, "but you can say that we are doing business at No. 78 East Columbia street."

owned the building occupied by Well Bros., and only had $1,000 insurance, in the Hibernia, of New Orleans. He formerly had an insurance of $4,000 on the block, but the companies cancelled $3,000 as soon as Well Bros. moved into it. Mr. Randall will lose $3,000 and ably deserves to, as he is always enterprising and pushing things ahead.

DR. C. P. BARNUM

held an insurance of $4,000 on his livery stable building and the amount of insurance on his stock covers every loss. D. C. Fisher holds the policies for Dr. Barnum, who is going to rebuild his stable as soon as the insurance is adjusted. He is doing a saturating business near the old stand.

MR. E. J. PENNINGTON

said their losses would be about $1,500 and the insurance fully covered the amount. He had a big force of men at work to-day joining and supporting the walls of the building, which is owned by Wm. Moellering. Some of the manufactured machinery has been transferred to No. 56 East Columbia street, preparatory to shipment. The works were in operation to-day as usual, but with a reduced force of men, because of the action of Foreman Kiser, who said to his men: "You can work in the shop if you please, but I won't risk my life." Kiser walked out and his men followed him. There was no need of this fright.

WALL CONDEMNED.

The council committee on public grounds and buildings was called together this afternoon and at once proceeded to condemn the north wall of Well Bros. store. It is dangerous and liable to fall over at any moment.

There is talk also of Dr. Barnum holding Mr. Randall responsible for the destruction of his stable on the ground that it would not have burned if the other wall had not fallen on it.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—Indiana, local rains, nearly stationary temperature.

INDIANA'S LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Colonel Robertson Secures His Per Diem and Mileage Under an Opinion of the Attorney General.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 1.—The controversy regarding the unsettled question of the lieutenant governorship came up once more Saturday afternoon. State's Attorney Carr addressed a letter to Attorney General Michener setting forth that Robert S. Robertson had been elected lieutenant governor; that this election had been legally proclaimed by the speaker of the house; but that he has been prevented from presiding over the senate, although he has frequently made an effort to exercise his rights. He had, in consequence of this election, made a demand upon the auditor for a warrant for the payment of his per diem and mileage, as lieutenant governor and ex-officio president of the senate, and the attorney general's opinion was asked as to the proper course to pursue. In answer to this Mr. Michener has written a lengthy opinion, covering the same ground he has maintained throughout the controversy, supporting it by numerous authorities, and holding that Robertson was legally elected and entitled to serve. His conclusion was as follows: "He [Robertson] cannot be denied this compensation merely because the senate refused to allow him to preside over it. That denial does not destroy his title, so the title remained in him notwithstanding the action of the senate. It is clear that he is entitled to the incident of the title, which is the compensation. I therefore advise you that you should allow the warran which is claimed, if the mileage and per diem are stated correctly." In accordance with this opinion, the auditor issued his warrant to Colonel Robertson for $505 26, the full amount of his per diem and milage.

The McGarigle Matter.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A telegram from Barnia, Ont., says: "Instructions have been received from Styles Attorney Grunnell, of Chicago, and the chief of police to arrest McGarigle on an indictment issued at Montreal. The Barnia chief of police has not been able to find him and the supposition is that he has left town."

Dr. St. John, who is believed to have personally assisted McGarigle to escape, was arrested this morning. He furnished bail for $20,000.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—McGarigle, the escaped boodler, was landed at Point Edward, Canada, opposite Port Huron, yesterday, from the schooner Blake. He was taken off the schooner in a small boat, in plain sight of a tug containing officers, who boarded the vessel Marsh, which was in the same tow as the Blake. McGarigle had adopted no disguise, and readily admitted his identity. He proceeded at once to Sarnia, where he lodged with a friend last night. To a reporter he said that he would at once open communication with his friends in Chicago, and that he hoped to arrange matters in the near future so as to admit of his return to Chicago.

MRS. TREXLER

Complains of the Haste in Removing the Goods of Her Late Husband — Her Title Questioned.

Mr. James Wilkinson, the legal United States marshal, said to TRIBUNE reporter this morning that Mrs. Trexler, wife of the late Dr. Leslie Trexler, had a statement she desired in the newspapers.

It will be recalled that the doctor died Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Trexler, who is his second wife, says that before his body was cold, Dr. Wertz, his son-in-law, and one of the executors of the estate, had his personal effects, such as clothing, gold watch, the horses and carriages and the iron safety vault, where the doctor kept his papers, removed from her house and premises. She also says she was compelled to listen to the reading of the will at a moment when the grief was too severe to understand it. This was all in the presence of Dr. Wertz and Dr. A. J. Lautuch.

Dr. Trexler left his second wife but $3,000, all told, and gave her baby nothing. The rest of his $30,000 estate he divides among his eight children by a former wife. Save Dr. Wertz, none of the children came to see their father.

Mrs. Trexler wanted the doctor buried at Lindenwald, where he has a lot, but Dr. Wertz had the remains sent to Allentown, Berks county, Pa., for burial.

Dr. Wertz questions the the legality of his father's marriage to the woman with whom he has lived as his wife for five years and who has borne him a pretty baby. The lady, whose parents are respectable people in Lake township, denies this assertion and censures the haste of Dr. Wertz and others for their acts and greed.

Dr. Trexler made his fortune out of iron ladels and his practice. The case promises to reach the courts.

Was It Murder?

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. This morning the dead body of a pretty white girl about sixteen years of age was found under the east side of the Eighteenth street viaduct. All the circumstances indicated an atrocious murder.

"THE CONSPIRATORS"

The Federal Jury Disagree as to the Guilt of Sim Coy and His Co-defendants—A Rebuke to Partisan Judge Woods.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 1.—The most intense excitement prevailed in this community all last week in regard to the conclusion expected to be reached by the jury in the election fraud cases. Tele. rams have been pouring in from all sections of the state making inquiries as to the verdict of the jury. During the entire Saturday afternoon a crowd of citizens stood around the federal building in the hot, broiling sun awaiting news from the room where the consultation was going on. At 4:30 o'clock Clerk Butler was called for by Judge Woods. After a short consultation with the court in chambers he returned to his office and sent for Judge Claypool, Judge McNutt, Frances Mattler, and others. Coy and Sullivan learned that something was up and quickly appeared. It was learned, as rumored and others came, that the jurors had asked the court to discharge them, as a decision could not be reached. A party of about twenty, headed by Judge Woods, consisting of the clerk, marshal, Coy and Sullivan, Messrs. McNutt, Mattler and Judge Claypool, with several reporters, went to the court room floor. The door was opened after some hesitation by the deputy marshal, and the jurors were seen getting into their seats and adjusting their collars. As the party filed in they took their seats, and the judge put the formal question that he understood they

COULD NOT AGREE.

Mr. Anderson, who acted as foreman, answered, and the question was put to each in succession. The sick juror, Densmore, replied very feebly. "Well, then, gentlemen," said the judge, "the record will show the fact of your being in consultation with the court and discharged." The proceedings were then at an end. Jurer Fullenwider, who acted as a sort of secretary, with the permission of the court gave the result of the vote. On the general proposition of the guilt or innocence of the defendants collectively a vote was taken last evening, the result being seven for acquittal and five for conviction. This is supposed to be a strict party vote, although the gentlemen deny that any such consideration had entered into the matter. Below is given as to the defendants separately, and there was no deviation in the several ballots taken during the day:

John H. Cornselman, one of the election inspectors, a unanimous vote of not guilty.

Simeon Coy, chairman democratic committee, eight for acquittal, four for conviction.

C. N. Metcalf, secretary of the state board of health, ten for acquittal, two for conviction.

J. F. Sullivan, county clerk, nine for acquittal, three for conviction.

Albert T. Beck, an attorney and partner of Congressman Bynum, eleven for acquittal one for conviction.

George W. Budd, deputy county clerk, eight for acquittal, four for conviction.

Stephen J. Mattler, inspector, nine for acquittal, three for conviction.

W. F. A. Bernhamer, president of the canvassing board, six for conviction and six for acquittal.

John L. Reardon, not guilty.

The vote as to Cornselman and Reardon does not stand, and all the defendants will have to be tried again unless the government quashes the indictment as to Reardon and Cornselman. A juror said, regarding Cornselman and Reardon, that they asked the judge if a verdict of not guilty could be returned in their cases. The judge presumed to consult with the attorneys for the defense regarding it, but there was nothing done, and the attorneys say the judge did not bring the matter to their notice. The jurors seemed glad to be released, and began packing up at once. The court room was crowded by curious. Judge Woods repaired to his chambers; and was found pacing the floor. Being asked when the cases would be set for rehearing, he said he did not know. There is much gossip abroad to-night about the matter, and much difference of opinion. The charge of the judge is denounced as extremely partisan by defendants and their friends. Many characterize the trial as a partisan affair, gotten up by republican managers, while republicans generally think that a conspiracy was fully proven and that the defendants are guilty. It seems to be the general opinion that there will be no more trials of the cases against defendants.

The charges against Coy and the other democrats is that of aiding and abetting in the change of the election returns affecting a county judge and coroner at Indianapolis.

Railroad Builder Killed.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 1. News reaches here that Captain A. G. Wells, builder of the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan railroad, was killed by the explosion of a boiler at San Antonio, Texas.

Death of a Wealthy Toledoan.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Valentine H. Ketcham died this evening aged seventy-six years. Mr. Ketcham was president of the First National bank, and of many of the leading manufacturing institutions of this city. He was reputed to be the richest man in North western Ohio his wealth being variously estimated at from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000.

IN THE BUSY WORLD.

Personal Points and Pithy Paragraphs Picked up Around the Shops and Railroads of the City.

Sam Tallent, of the organ factory, has returned from a pleasant trip to Boston.

The Pennington works got a pretty close call by the fire of Sunday morning.

Geo. Carling, a coppersmith in the Pittsburg shops, returned to work this morning, having been sick for a month.

Simon Boerger don't like the hot weather, and he is in favor of everybody taking a vacation during its continuance.

Engineer A. J. Tim, of the Nickel Plate, with his family, left to-day for Atlanta, Ga., and a trip through the south.

Peter Donner, an employe of the Pittsburg shops, is confined to his house with a severe case of inflammation of the bowels.

Fred Kreispe, of the Peters Box and Lumber Co., has returned from Dayton, Ohio, where he went to act as "best man" at the wedding of a friend.

John Harbee, the wheel inspector at Olds' wheel works, has resigned to accept a position as fireman on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad.

Herman France, of the Electric Light works, left to-day for Manitkachee, to attend the chess tournament held there this week. Herman is an expert chess player.

Several of the hens in the machine department of the Bass foundry were at Hartford City yesterday on the excursion and gave glowing accounts of the gas well there.

George L. Peter, the assistant master mechanic of the Pittsburg shops, is in charge of affairs during the absence of Master Mechanic Cassanave, who is expected home this evening.

The clerks and foremen of the Bass works are head over heels in work today. They are taking an invoice and our reporter couldn't get within ten yards of them this morning.

It is hinted that Montgomery McMamara, the wheel finisher at Olds' wheel works, is to shortly wed an accomplished Decatur belle. His frequent trips to that city has let the secret out.

There is hot weather consolation in the following remarks from an exchange: "If you can get away for a summer vacation it is best for you to go. If you cannot, you will find great comfort in the reflection that there is no place like home."

July has proved to be a fatal month to the railroad men on the foot boards. There have been eight engineers and ten firemen killed in accidents and what is more singular, on freight and construction trains the accidents have been the most fatal since the present year came in.

The division of the Yard Master Benefit association, which was organized a week ago among the employes of the shops of the city, started off with a membership of fifteen and is increasing. Its object is to provide for the families of the men in case of death or during sickness.

A magnificent sail boat is being built at the Olds wheel works for the vice-president, Mr. John D. Olds, and is now almost finished. When completed it will be taken to Bay View, Mich., for the use of Mr. Olds' family, who are now rusticating at that delightful summer resort.

There is a great scarcity of refrigerator cars among the railroads, so large are the shipments of provisions, dressed meats and other perishable articles eastward. On Wednesday last the Pennsylvania and the New York Central were 200 cars short of filling their orders for refrigerator cars.

George Crance, the popular wheel finisher at Olds' wheel works, enjoys the reputation among the boys of the shop as being a mighty good fellow. They call him "Bumble Bee Jack." He lives about two and a half miles in the country, where he has forty stands of bees, and "Jack" occasionally brings in a pound of honey to sweeten up the boys, especially his fellow workmen, John Longfield and Mike Berr.

The employes of the Pittsburg shops are making arrangements for an excursion and picnic to be held at Warsaw on the 20th of the month. On Friday evening they held a meeting and appointed the following committee to wait on Master Mechanic Cassanave in order to secure his consent. The committee consisted of the following: J. A. Graham, C. W. Howey, J. J. Beistaugh, H. H. Kirchner, Geo. H. Judy, L. Campbell, E. Fitzpatrick, J. H. Sloan, J. T. Leach, F. Dassler, C. J. Rosenkrimer, N. Pelgen, P. Butler, O. E. Broadway and W. Knight. The committee will wait on Mr. Cassanave to-day and if they succeed in getting his consent the Pittsburg boys will have a rousing excursion to Warsaw.

POISONED HER CHILD

A Zanesville, Ohio, Mother Accused of Taking Her Child's Life by Giving It Paris Green.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Anna Smoots, the wife of Howard Smoots, of Adamsville, Ohio, was arrested last night, charged with poisoning her child, three years old. The coroner had had an analysis of the child's stomach, showing that it had received more than enough paris green to cause its death. Two other children of this woman have died suddenly within a few years.

JAMES SAUNDERS

Is Cleared of the Charge of Causing His Wife's Death.

Mrs. James Saunders died at the county asylum Saturday evening. This is the woman who was discovered in a dying condition at her home, on Third street, Thursday last, by her neighbors. She had bruises about her head, face and body then and it was supposed that her husband assaulted her. Dr. J. M. Timmes, the coroner, made a post mortem examination of the remains yesterday and concluded that the worst's death proceeded from natural causes. Her lungs were congested, her liver was an unshapely mass and her system was wholly disarranged by alcoholism and neglect. James Saunders, who was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of having been instrumental in the death of his wife, was liberated to-day after a forty-hour sojourn in the cooler. The people used to hang about the city, Mrs. Saunders was a very fleshy woman and had traces of better days outlined on her face. Saunders used to wear a shaggy red beard then. Now his face is shaved clean, save his mustache, and his old friends will scarcely recognize him. He is employed by H. C. Paul and recently declares he did not strike his wife, attributing her death to "too much beer," as he puts it.

Stiehl was living near the paper mill under an assumed name, and the detective caught his man on the plea that he was an express messenger and that a trunk lay in the office to await its owner. Stiehl responded and is in jail awaiting requisition.

Distress After Eating.

This result of indigestion will no longer be experienced if Brandreth's Liver Pills are taken after each meal. It is such a good digester, and so mild and pleasant in its effect that it is used by many, after a hearty meal, to insure good digestion. The regulator does not nauseate or irritate the stomach, but corrects acidity, dispels foul gases, allays irritation, and assists the stomach in its digestion.

D. W. Hartnett, the tramp newspaper man who originated the expose of ex-Supt. John Price, when Mr. S. E. Morse edited THE SENTINEL, is in jail in default of $500 bail. He stole a number of articles from J. M. Robinson, the prosecutor-elect, and a coat from Joe Brimmer, the painter. Hartnett is bright, and before liquor at first his senses he was a good newspaper man. He is known all over the country and has served on the staff of the leading newspapers of the country. He is now a wreck and a contributor for whisky and a bite to eat. Deputy Sheriff Al. Black made this important arrest.

How Gloves Are Made.

Nobody, so far as we know, has ever disputed the proposition that one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives; and we have little fear of contradiction when we make bold to declare that probably one-half of the people of the United States do not know where their gloves come from. Of course it is generally known that gloves of fine kid, such as ladies wear, and gloves of a certain form which fashion prescribes for men, are brought from abroad, but whence comes the great supply of all the other gloves? The answer would not be far wrong if one were to say from Fulton County, New York. Four-fifths of the gloves made in America, it is estimated, are manufactured in this county named, and the manufactories which make gloves elsewhere are in great part the children of Fulton County, indebted to her for their nurture and their establishment in life.

The headquarters of the glove-making industry in Fulton County are forty-five miles northwest of Albany, in Johnstown Township. The villages of Gloversville and Johnstown in that township contain a population of about 20,000, seven-eighths of whom are glovemakers. There are upward of 150 glove manufactories in the section. Glove-making in what is now Fulton County was begun early in the present century. Upon the passing away of Sir William Johnson, the famous Tory agent of colonial times, and of his son Sir John, a zealous Tory who fought fiercely for King George, the Dutch farmers of the neighborhood looked about for some better means of support than were offered to them by the soil, which was not fitted for husbandry, although there was good grazing land upon the stony hillsides. A shrewd family from Connecticut are popularly credited with introducing into the neighborhood the manufacture of buckskin gloves. There was in the convenient North Woods in those days a supply of material for this manufacture so great that nobody would have thought it could ever be exhausted, but the demand of the American people for gloves proved to be still greater, and the North Woods deer ceased to be depended upon by the Fulton County glove-makers years ago. To-day the gloves manufactured in Gloversville and Johnstown are made of skins brought from the most distant parts of the globe. The great bulk are buckskins and sheepskins, but there are many others which the glovemakers use—among them sealskin, dogskin, East India cowhide, and the skin of the South American waterhog. The bulk of the buckskin comes from Mexico and Central and South America. The deer of the tropics is covered with a heavy skin than covers the deer of these latitudes, and the finest sheepskin comes from South Africa, and is that of the Cape hairsheep. "The coarser the wool, the finer the skin," is a glovemaker's saying. All manner of furs, too, go to Fulton County, to be used in finishing the gloves.

The business of glove-making in Fulton County amounts to about $8,000,000 yearly. The wages of the most skilful workers—the table cutters, as they are called—run from $60 to $80 a month; block cutters get from $55 to $65 monthly, and machine girls earn, according to their skill, from $6 to $14 and even $16 a week. Harper's Bazar

Where Great Men are Born.

It is a curious fact as noted by the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, that the great majority of the prominent men are from the smaller cities and towns, while on the other hand, the number of those born in the larger cities of the North and West who have written their names high on the roll of political and military fame will scarcely reach a round dozen.

Charles Sumner was a resident of Boston, but his great colleague in the Senate, Henry Wilson, came from the insignificant village of Natick, while Gens. Butler and Banks are also Bostonians. Dawes and Hoar are natives of places but little more important in point of population. Tilden and Arthur were New York City men, but nearly every other New Yorker of prominence—like Pres. Cleveland, Daniel Manning, Horatio Seymour, Conkling, Seward, Greely and Kernan—had their birth and training in the interior cities. "Sunset" Cox claims New York City as his home, but he made his reputation as a raconteur and wit before he removed to the metropolis and while a resident of the sleepy old town of Zanesville, O.

Sam Randall is the only Congressman from Philadelphia in 30 years who is known outside of his state. The other famous Pennsylvanians Buchanan, Stevens, Cameron, Curtin, Meade, and Hancock all hailed from the provinces.

In Ohio the contrast is still more sharply defined. Ben. Wade, Chase, Stanton, Garfield, Hayes, Corx and Senator Sherman, Giddings, Thurman, Sheridan, and William Allen were in every instance citizens of obscure little towns that are known only to the world as the homes of these great men. Cincinnati, as an offset to this, has furnished to the country but two men of national prominence since the war—ex-Attorney Gen. Taft and George H. Pendleton.

Chicago has done even less for herself, inasmuch as she has sent but one man, Lyman Trumbull, of first-class ability, to either branch of Congress. Grant, Lincoln, Logan, and Yates the best-known names in Illinois politics, laid the foundation of their greatness in the smallest cities and towns of the state. What is true of the statesmen of the past is equally true of those of to-day. The Morrisons, Spinners, Blounts, Hammonds, Butterworths, McKinleys, Reeds, Mills, Holmans, Paysons, Weavers, Reagens, and Hendersons, who control the action of the lower house, have their homes in the Waterloos, Masons, Cantons, Aurora-Corsicanas, Palestines and other important towns in their respective states.

THE MOON AND THE WEATHER.

Some Scientific Facts Regarding an Old superstition.

Of all surviving pseudo-superstitions that of the influence of the moon on the weather dies the hardest; and the belief that the so-called "changes" of the moon are accompanied or followed by changes in the condition of the atmosphere is still to be found among a very large number indeed of otherwise educated and enlightened people. A recent writer in the English Mechanic has examined the grounds of this belief and attributes it to the weather predictions in the almanacs of the early part of the century.

As to the moon "changing," one would imagine to hear the majority of people talk, that a "change" of the moon is in some sense cognate with a conjuring trick, in which the performer, after showing that he has nothing in his hand, instantaneously produces an egg, an orange, or a ball from it. Now nothing could well be further from the truth than this, the fact being that the moon is always changing, 01 second before conjunction she is waning, .01 second after it she is waxing, and so throughout her monthly path. When her (celestial) longitude is identical with that of the sun she is said in the almanacs to be "new," when such longitude differs 90 degrees from the sun's toward the east she is in her "first quarter," when they are separated by 180 degrees the moon is "full," and when she has traveled to that point in her orbit in which she is 90 degrees to the west of the sun she is said to be in her "last quarter," in each case it being assumed that she is viewed from the earth's center. The use of the word "change," then, in connection with her position in these four points of her orbit is a solecism, pure and simple.

"But," people are heard to say, "as the moon influences the tides, why should it not affect the atmosphere too?" To which the immediately obvious reply is that the tides are a semi-diurnal phenomenon, so that, on this principle, the weather ought to change twice a day also—a conclusion too absurd to be entertained. Nevertheless the moon does influence the atmosphere by causing the production in it of tides so minute as, under ordinary circumstances to be masked by other fluctuations. The existence of these atmospheric tides was first definitely established by the observations of the late Prof. Daniell, but if these minute tides influenced the weather in the slightest degree it must change twice a day—a supposition too ridiculous to merit notice.

The "man in her beak" as a weather sign would appear to be a good deal like the old woman's indigo test—if the dye was pure "would either sink or swim, she disremembered which." In many parts of the country, and uniformly in England, the belief prevails that when the young moon is "lying on her back"—in other words, when the line joining her cusps is nearly or quite parallel to the horizon, she is "holding water," and that rain will certainly follow. How either belief arose it would be able to speculate, but the explanation of the phenomenon itself is sufficiently simple. In the outset the moon is never much more than 5 degrees either to the north or south of the ecliptic, or apparent annual path of the sun through the Heavens. Now the line adjoining her cusps (the sharp points of her crescent) is always square to a great circle passing the sun and moon. Two minutes' study of a celestial globe will show how variable is the inclination of the ecliptic to the horizon, and consequently that of the line joining the cusps of the moon also.

Finally, the most elaborate comparisons of meteorological records made in France and in England (where the Greenwich observatory for forty years were carefully collated with the moon's phases during that period) have suffered to show that no connection whatever exists between them. The solitary observable effect of the moon upon our atmosphere was believed by Sir John Herschel to be exhibited in the tendency to disappearance or cloud under the full moon, and this he attributes to the heat radiated from her surface.

Stories of Birds.

While Louis Gott was hunting near Palmyra, Mo., he received a violent blow on the side of the head, which made him dizzy for a few moments. When he recovered he saw a prairie chicken limping away, and he thinks it was the chicken that struck him.

Joseph O'Brien, of Cleveland, says that he once examined a swallow's nest in a barn containing birds. Around the leg of one of them horse-hair had been closely wound. Mr. O'Brien removed the hair and found that the leg had been broken. He thinks that this was a good case of bird surgery.

A Valdosta, Ga., man driving along the road near his home, saw a large bald eagle devouring a goose by the roadside. He alighted, gathered a lightwood knot, and advanced upon it, but the eagle, so far from fleeing away at his approach, stood by its game and showed fight. The man walked to within a few feet of it and, with a well-directed blow with the lightwood knot, knocked it over.

The Deer of the Bible.

In a book entitled "The Deer of the Bible," the author undertakes to prove that the leaven which the Israelites carried out of Egypt with them was an Egyptian beer called "Bouza." The discovery is more important than at first thought it appears to be, for now it is easily understood why the Egyptians took back to water. The Israelites had run off with all the beer.

The man who procrastinates struggles with ruin.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty five cents a bottle.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes us victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved as satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." MRS. E. F. ANABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and found it the best remedy she ever used.

Self-Preservation is the First Law

Of nature was thoroughly demonstrated by the people who rush into our store for relief and comfort at Burgess, Meshaire, Drap d'ete and Seersucker coats and vests fell before the throng of purchasers, who were determined to meet Old Sol advancing at the uncomfortable pressure of 98 degrees in the shade. The conflict raged long through every department, and as we gather up the scattered garments and arranged the broken lines of seizes, we felt sure that the people had won a handsome victory. You are earnestly invited to renew the attack, when a pleasant reception awaits you. Our great stock is complete in every department.

MONDAY, AUGUST 1, 1887.

THE CITY NEWS.

Dink Trentman is at home from quite a stay at Cleveland.

Mr. and mrs. H. N. Ward left this morning for a summer recreation at Catskill, N. Y.

W. A. Diffendorfer, the genial bookkeeper for Coombs & Co., is kept at his home of DeWald street by sickness.

A lively fight occurred on Saturday afternoon near the Murray works between Dick Sloan and Lewis Grippen, in which the latter was bitten severely in the finger by the former.

The Logansport Journal says: "R. W. T. DeWald and sister Carrie, of Fort Wayne, stopped in the city yesterday, on their way to Peoria, to pay a short visit to John DeWenter."

It only takes about twelve days to put a well down to Trenton rock anywhere in central Indiana, but it seems to take more than twelve weeks to put one down anywhere in northern Indiana.

J. R. Barnes, superintendent of motive power and machinery of the Wabash, and Mrs. Barnes, Dr. and Mrs. Shryock and Dr. S. B. Brown left this morning for Niagara Falls and a trip through the east.

Oliver Barrett, whose home is on Murray street, climbed on a Pittsburg train Saturday night to ride to the St. Mary's river. He fell under the wheels of the train in some way and had one of his hands mangled so badly that Dr. Dinnen amputated a finger for him.

Col. D. N. Foster, who has just returned from an extensive trip through the east, in reply to a question as to the political feeling in the east, said: "Oh, everybody out there is for Blaine's renomination, and he will be the next republican candidate for president."

Friday night a long wooden culvert across a stream east of Lima, on the line of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad, was set on fire by passing locomotive and damaged to a great extent, making it dangerous for trains to pass over. The wrecking crew was sent from Lima to repair the damage.

The West Main street bridge is permitted to go to ruin. The water works pipes lay on it and are rocking it pieces. The floor of the structure is unsafe and Saturday a hack horse nearly broke one of his feet in the crevices. The county commissioners ought to dump the water pipes into the river if they are not immediately removed.

The bright particular star that can be seen now every evening in the western sky is the planet Venus. It will become brighter and brighter until the 15th of August, when it will obtain its greatest brilliancy. On the 21st of September it will be in inferior conjunction with the sun, when it will change to a morning star and take its place in the eastern sky in all its glory to charm the early risers with its transcendent beauty.

Mayor Mahler and Captain A. H. Dougall came home from Ft. Meigs Saturday night. Ex-President Hayes presided over the meeting of the Maumee Valley Historical association and there was a great number of prominent people in attendance. The object of the society is to see that congress properly marks the scenes of Indian wars and pioneer struggles. Mayor Mahler secured the acceptance of an invitation to hold the next meeting in Fort Wayne, the scene of the most notable events it is proposed to perpetuate in marble.

The Michigan City Dispatch is making a plea for the pardon of Boss C. Webster, who has served twenty years of a life sentence for a double murder committed in this county. This continual slobbering over murderers and criminals whose victims lie in untimely graves is too sickening to tolerate. Time cannot attone for Boss Webster's crime and no heinous was the double killing that Hon. A. P. Edgerton allowed every governor of Indiana, expressing the bloody deed and protesting against any executive clemency for the perpetrator.

Albert Foster, who went east several weeks ago, with his parents, Col. and Mrs. D. N. Foster, to take an ocean voyage for the benefit of his health, is now in New Jersey passing the summer months with relatives. He spent three weeks at the sea shore, but, upon the advice of his physician, gave up the sea voyage and went to the interior of New Jersey. While he is improved in some respects, Colonel Foster, who has returned home, does not speak encouragingly of his son's recovery, and says that Albert will remain where he is, with Mrs. Foster, until his physician advises a change of location.

Save your tickets! All three of the grand capital prizes will be drawn September 1, in case numbers 1,1 4, 1,950 and 1,987 are not presented before that time. Messrs Sam, Pete & Max are determined that somebody shall secure these grand presents. The daily presentation of valuable gifts, the popular scheme of the day, and going the year round. No dull times at the Star, but business booming, stock immense, prices way down. 3dtw-tf.

The Business Men's exchange meets to-night.

Amiel Such and Anna Bartels have been licensed to wed.

The city council will meet in special session to-morrow night.

Mrs. J. D. Olds is at Bay View, Michigan, spending the summer.

Mrs. J. F. Brogan and son have returned from a pleasant visit at Wabash.

Councilman Williams was experimenting with a gasoline stove Saturday night and burned his hands slightly.

Charles F. Droeger, formerly of this city but now of Cincinnati, is the guest of his parents, on Third street.

The school entertainment which was to be given next Saturday evening in Madison township is postponed.

Miss Aggie Phillips, a very handsome and charming young lady, has returned to the city from Findlay, O., where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Ida Georgian, daughter of Henry Georgian and grand-daughter of ex-County Commissioner Georgian, died yesterday of cramps. Funeral to-morrow afternoon.

The regular cottage meeting of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bikkell, No. 150 Ewing street, Tuesday evening, the 2d inst. All are welcome."

Geo. J. Alter has been appointed superintendent of the mail carriers, vice Frank Mensch, who resigned to take the Frenchtown route. Will C. Baade has finished his fifteen days' vacation and Mail Carrier Will Clear is next on the program for a summer jaunt.

The International Typographical Union has sustained the striking Gazette printers and will assist them out of the strike fund. Mr. Boyer, chief organizer of the International Union, is expected here to-day to instruct the local union as to what course to pursue in the impending strike.

Mr. George W. Seavy Saturday purchased from Mr. Pat H. Kane, one of his rooms in the Kane block, on West Main street, for $7,000. Mr. Seavy will remove his hardware store to that room and will possibly rent the adjoining store room when Geo. F. Bursley vacates it.

Mr. Tom Wilkinson, a brother of Deputy United States Marshal James Wilkinson, was sworn in as deputy sheriff to-day. It is said that Mr. Viberg is going to dismiss Deputy Sheriff Albert Black. The young gentleman came in from the country and has earned for himself a host of friends as well as an enviable official record.

It was most fortunate for the city that an arrangement was made with Mr. Bass for a supply of water. If this had not been done there can be no doubt but that the fire on Saturday night would have destroyed the Randall building, Barnum's stable, the Pennington works, the woolen factory and perhaps other property, for all of which the city would have been liable. Her liability could not have been less than $150,000.

Michael Harrigan, Wm. Nix, Wm. Lepker, James Saunders, Ben Shuley, Geo. Hartman, Orville Hally, Henry Woodward, James Nolan, Christ McLaughlan and John Crotty were arraigned before his honor for drunkenness. The fines ranged from $11.50 to $13.00, according to the tapering of the drunk. Crotty is the fellow who rescued young Ferguson from drowning in the St. Mary's river and may get rich of jail on the strength that he is a local hero.

A member of THE SENTINEL staff received to-day a letter from City Clerk Rockhill, dated Carlsbad, July 12. He does not note much improvement in his condition, but says that is always the case the first week at the springs. He was to remain there three weeks longer, and said that Messrs Stevens and Oppenheim are to join him at Carlsbad this week. The party seems to have had a pleasant journey, and Wright tells of meeting Hon. James O. Blaine and Buffalo Bill at London.

Alfred M. Preston, editor of the Pythian Journal, and a very clever gentleman, comfortably and pleasantly fixed, while talking with his wife, telling her that he must go to the depot to meet a friend, suddenly drew a revolver and began shooting at her, and when his brother and mother appeared on the scene he shot at them, but fortunately injured no one. This morning all the family agreed that his act was due to temporary mental disorder, and the prosecution was dismissed, he being consigned to care of his people.

The Warsaw Times has this personal gossip: "Mrs. J. D. Overhalt and Miss Mary Olds, of Goshen, and Miss Josie Neester, of Fort Wayne, have been in the city for the past few days visiting Miss Laura Eartel and other friends.—Rev. A. T. Briggs, of Fort Wayne, will fill the pulpit at the M. E. church tomorrow (Sunday) morning and evening. —Cy Lane, of the Journal, and David Eckert, the manufacturer of the celebrated "23" cigars, both of Fort Wayne, were in the city yesterday and gave us a call. Dave takes somewhat after his father in avoirdupois."

An exchange very truthfully says: "Whenever a man is successful—it matters not in what—he will be hated. If his success is in a wrong direction, he will be hated by the better class of the community, and he should have it. If he succeeds in good works he will be hated by the bad men and envied by the conservatives. When you are assailed for good works, stand by your guns. Woe unto you when all men speak well. The aggressive man is worth a thousand 'don't care' fellows, and ten thousand of those who will sacrifice principle, and let a needed work go undone for fear of enmity. Such men are cowards and stumbling blocks. They deserve to be left in the race of life. Their stock in trade is talk and emotion. Drive on."

A JEWELER WRITES:

MESSRS. PROCTER & GAMBLE, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—I think your "Ivory Soap" is about as nice and convenient a thing as I have ever tried to clean jewelry. I have frequently cleaned up soiled necklaces, watch-guards and other similar articles by making a stiff lather in my hands, then thoroughly saturate the article I want cleaned, rubbing it gently in the palm of my hands, rinsing in cold, soft water, and drying in dry sawdust. For a convenient and effective article for household use I don't think it can be beat. I don't think it would have any injurious effects on any thing except, perhaps, pearls or foil-back goods. If carefully handled, the goods come out looking nearly as bright as when cleaned by the best preparations known to the trade, and it is something perfectly safe in the hands of inexperienced persons, and convenient to have about. I find it so good I think it deserves mention, hence this letter.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A Card from D. Neutel.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL:

According to a notice in your paper of Friday last some one demands a new sidewalk on the west side of Broadway, from Jefferson street to the railroad. Would it not be in better taste for the person to give his or her name? There is no better sidewalk in the city than the walk spoken of, that of Neutel's square south of Jefferson and west of Broadway; also, the next south of the alley, Mr. Langohr's property. They should be taken as samples of cleanliness and are kept according to the city ordinances. Farther south, property holders let their sidewalks go down and occupy one-half of them with chicken coops, lager beer kegs and other obstructions. Those who comply with the ordinances, sharpers and their friends should not interfere with. They only expose to the public their own roguery. It is about time tax payers get rid of such monthers. D. NEUTEL.

HARRY GRIFFITH,

A Stone Mason, Dies Suddenly at Peter Koehlinger's Hostelry.

Harry Griffith came here from Chicago June 1, and engaged lodging at Peter Koehlinger's hostelry, on Clinton street. The place was formerly occupied by Frank Fitzgerald, and has not improved with age.

At the joint Harry Griffith met his death last night. He was found at the bottom of a stairway leading to Clinton street, and died quickly. He had been ailing some days and the county physician gave him some medicine. He drank too much liquor and a domestic at the house said he talked silly yesterday. They say he did not fall down the stairway, and attribute his death to natural causes.

Griffith was a stone mason employed on the Berghoff brewery. He was possibly thirty-five years of age, and once told Mrs. Koehlinger he had a wife and five children at Chicago.

Uniqueness of Clocks.

Clocks are not only useful but very ornamental, and so very cheap, too. A very pretty antique pressed brass mantel clock (American make), with a deep-toned cathedral gong of a fair-away sound, can be had for $10. A good time-keeper, nickel-plated, costs but 90 cents. The prices have this wide range, and selections can be made from varied, thousands of office clocks, alarms, cuckoos, bells, and striking or silent recorders of the flight of precious hours. Clocks that tell the state of the weather, and are also calendars; clocks that tinkle the half hours and chime the full; clocks that work like watches or swing the faithful pendulum, and, in fact, clocks of all kinds, matching all dispositions, are abundant and cheap, and there seems to be no excuse for even the occupant of an east-side flat for not having one. These Yankee clocks are appreciated abroad and below, for the exportations to Europe, Mexico, and South America number a 1,000 a day.—New York Times.
